GREEN CREDENTIALS

We as designers of unique, design-led, and innovative furniture understand our social responsibility to the peoples and countries where we design, manufacture, and distribute our furniture, by conserving resources where possible and lightening our footprint on the planet.

We take great care in ensuring our designs are produced with the smallest footprint left on the environment, and to the highest technical and quality level available, so that our designs live on from generation to generation and won't end up in landfill.

As part of our products design journey, all our timbers are ethically sourced from reputable Forestry Stewardship Council (or FSC) certified suppliers. All glues used are formaldehyde free, our water-based lacquers are free from lead, and we try to minimise the use of solid wood where we can and instead regularly rely on the use of timber veneers. Our foams and fabrics used are chosen by their environmental credentials and our upholsterers craft and monitored to strict environmental standards.

When designing our products, we ensure that we take very seriously the use of recyclable packaging materials, minimising the footprint of our furniture by designing flat-packed or stackable items and hence reducing our carbon footprint in transportation.

Whilst we are not perfect, as a company we are constantly looking at different ways to achieve our environmentally conscious goals.

QUALITY ASSURANCE

Gohome endeavours to produce products of the highest quality at all times.

This is achieved by having QC experts on site at all times monitoring the manufacturing and packaging process at our factories. They follow strict QC guidelines which are internationally recognized. Our factories endure rigorous assessment and certification processes to attain ISO9001 & ISO14001 accreditation.
